

Figure 4: Damage caused by Hurricane Sandy when it made landfall in New York in 2012. Occurrences like this will happen more frequently as global temperatures continue to rise. Source: National Geographic.