

China Beat Outs US Production in Most Mineral Markets

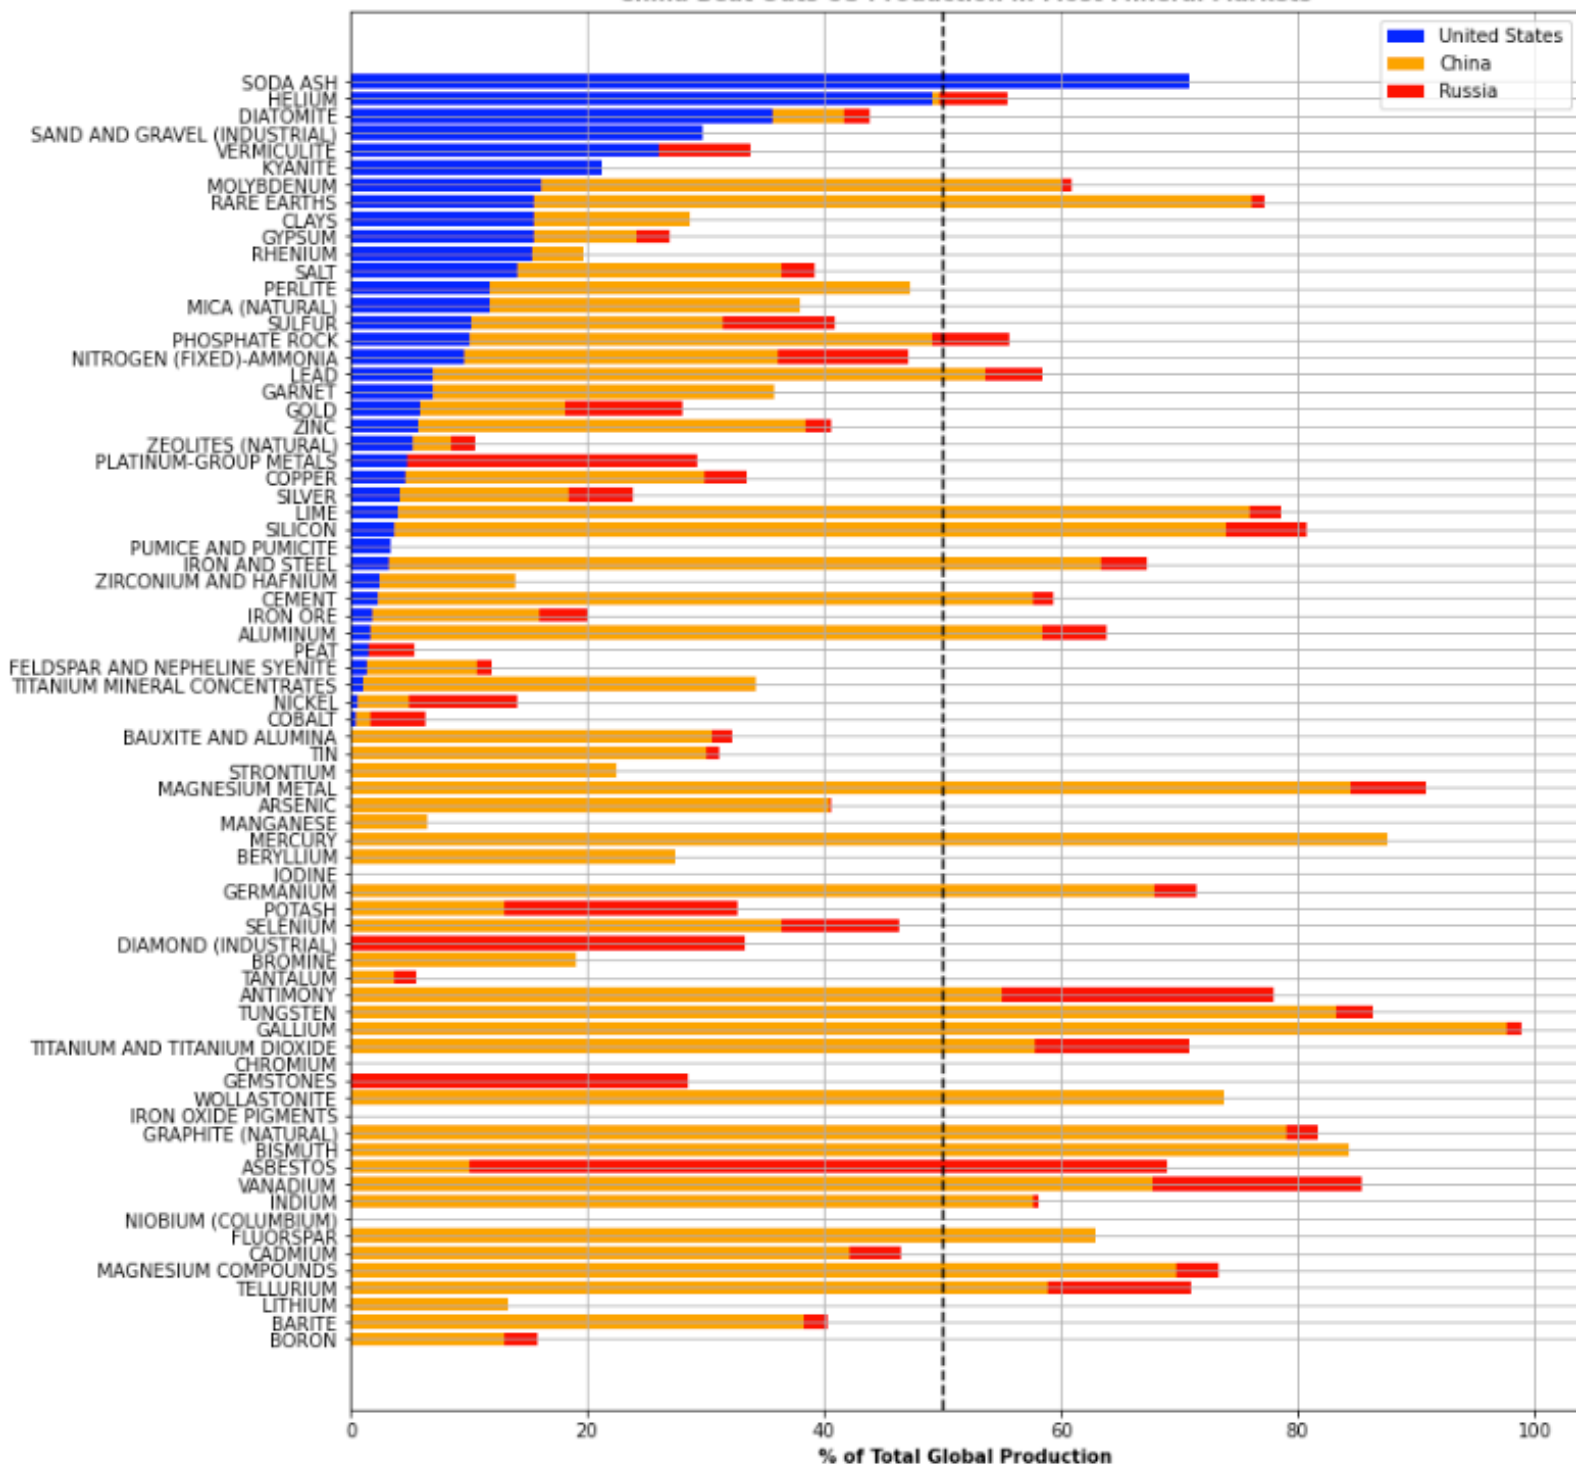

Figure 3: If we filter the previous image to only include the U.S.' main competitors (China and Russia), we see that the primary reason for the U.S.' apparent lack of dominance over global mineral markets is due to China. China maintains a large percentage of mineral production in almost all markets studied.